

June 2006

SIparent

STATEN ISLAND'S FAMILY MAGAZINE SINCE 1989

Summer time is fun time... especially when you're almost three. Depending on the day and the activity planned, I often can't control myself. Jittery and full of jubilation is a good description of my usual demeanor. Mom says I have a chronic case of "ants in my pants," which always makes me giggle. Either way, I've got so much energy and excitement about the summer's play-in-the-yard, great-weather potential, that I'm super-eager to dive into the season with my eyes closed.

My newest favorite crank-detractor? Tippy Toe Tunes' Bath to Bedtime Musicals -- either the "Princess" or "Cowboy" one will do. The stories about Sir Washalot and Lady Elizabeth or Cowboy Jimbo and Fannie Soakley are as good as watching a movie... really! And with my imagination starting to really take flight, I'm loving the opportunity to sit back and just pretend that I'm part of the story.

After all, every day is yet another page of adventures that makes up this chapter of lessons called "life." Some days I need someone to read to me... others, I can let my imagination take shape and form the words myself. Email me and my mom at gigisworld@siparent.com your tales of toddler adventure.